[REDACTED] and I, [REDACTED] plan to depart from Washington on or about 21 August 1956 for a visit to the Far East generally. While our reservations are not all confirmed, our itinerary as it now stands is attached. This is a trip to which we have both looked forward for a long time, feeling as we do that we could do our jobs here better if we had a first-hand look at your living and working conditions and problems in general. We would like to see and learn as much as we can while we are at each station. However, I hope that you will in no way regard our visit as an inspection.

I know that visiting firemen can be a headache and that most of you already have more than your fair share of visitors. I hope that you will arrange our schedule so that we will interfere as little as possible with the Station's normal operation. We hear so much about the burden placed upon field stations by the necessity of entertaining official visitors and so much from official visitors about how well they are entertained by field personnel that I feel impelled to say that we neither expect nor desire more than the minimum of social activity. We would appreciate it if you would arrange appropriate modest accommodations.

We look forward to seeing you on or about the date indicated on the itinerary.
